Mixed by Susan B. Anthony.

The Atlanta Constitution comments upon an editorial in a Western daily on the life of Susan B. Anthony. The editorial refers to the element of tragedy in the fact that Miss Anthony has missed wifehood and motherhood, the crowning glories of woman's life. The Atlanta Constitution comments on this claim, and says:

It is undeniable that Miss Anthony has missed wifehood and motherhood, and in shutting up a woman's life it is only fair that we should count things she has missed along with the thing she has gained. She has gained the love and reverence of millions of people now living and of "millions yet to be," but she has never known the unspeakable joys of nursing a family of children through the measles, whooping cough and mumps. She has lived a useful and perfect unselfish life, but she doesn't know a thing in the world about the serene happiness that lies in being housekeeper, cook, chamber-maid, nurse, seamstress, housewife and a half a dozen other things every day in the year. All her nervous prostration puts an end to the complicated business. She has stood on a thousand platforms and listened to the applause of vast audiences, but she doesn't know the glory and honor there is in picking up a bucket of hot suds and climbing a step ladder to wash the doors and windows. All joy and rapture of house-cleaning are the beautiful month of May are a sealed book to her. She has made the life of woman kind broader, deeper and higher than woman ever dreamed it could be, but she has no conception of the breadth, depth and height of satisfaction to be found in nursing a baby through the "three months, colic."

She has made the world over, but she is ignorant of the abandon of joy a woman feels when she makes over an old dress for the third time, and then sees John start off on his summer fishing trip. She has been free and independent always, and the women who are happier for her work will see that she never lacks any good thing, but she has never known the ecstasy of asking John for 10 cents to pay street car fare, and she has never experienced the bliss of hearing him growl about the price of her Easter bonnet, and then over the monthly fishing trip. She has been free and independent always, and the women who are happier for her work will see that she never lacks any good thing, but she has never known the ecstasy of asking John for 10 cents to pay street car fare, and she has never experienced the bliss of hearing him growl about the price of her Easter bonnet, and then over the monthly fishing trip.

There is no use in talking about it, Miss Anthony missed a lot of things. It is said that on her last birthday she received 5,000 letters congratulatory of the things she has gained in her eighty years of life. But there are wives and mothers who could cheerfully and heartily write her 5,000 more letters congratulatory of the things that she has missed.

Admiral Sampson's Parentage.
Admiral Sampson is of the humblest parentage. His father was a ditch digger at Palmyra, N. Y., a man of low intelligence, good character and deep religious convictions. Admiral Sampson's mother was a woman who paid his expenses to Annapolis by assisting his father digging ditches, grubbing stumps and in other similar employment. Three of his classmates—Admirals Crowl, Higginson and Rodgers—are now in Washington. Admiral Watson, who was one class ahead of him with Schley, and other men who were in the academy at the same time, all testify that Sampson was about the greatest "jag" that ever appeared at the academy, but at the same time he attracted immediate attention because of his handsome appearance and intellectual ability. His pluck and white complexion gave him the nickname of "Lily," which stuck to him through his entire career, and his gawky, awkward manner were in striking contrast to his handsome head and face. Sampson had enjoyed no advantages outside of the district school and was barely able to pass his entrance examination, but his mental abilities were demonstrated during the first term, when he shot from the bottom to number four in his class. At the end of the first year he stood number one, a place that he kept without the slightest difficulty until his graduation.

Some rough remedies like a cough, the drug is into silence, but the irritation stays in the lungs to cause trouble. Morley's Honey Pectoral soothes, heals, strengthens and cures thoroughly. The cough stops because the cause is removed. Price 25 cts. Ask your druggist.

Trusts in a Rush.

By means of the completed organization of the American Can Company, representing a complete monopolistic combine of the tin-can manufacturing concerns of the United States, and of the Standard Milling Company, Inc., comprehensive in scope, an additional $100,000,000 of trust capitalization is to be noted as a significant development of the times.

It must be acknowledged that the organization of another four years of McKinleyism is greatly stimulating the Trust Barons in their monopoly mission. It is but a few days ago, almost coincident with the second inauguration of the Trust President of the United States, that the Steel Trust perfected by Pierpont Morgan was incorporated with a capital of $1,000,000,000. The gigantic railway combine, based on the "community of ownership" idea, is also a recent development. No time is being lost by the 200 trust magnates of America who hope finally to own all that is worth owning in this country.

Of course, there will be many other trust formations in the not remote future, covering whatever fields are still open to the application of the trust idea. The certain passage of the Fifty-seventh Congress will no doubt result in at least one new shipping combine. It's a great time for the trusts—and during the next four years the people will learn just what it means to have a Trust President at the head of the American Government. They should not fail to profit by the lesson if they propose to remain a free and self-governing people.—St. Louis Republic.

Wild Pigeons.
After a complete disappearance for many years, and after the belief of their extermination had grown to certainty, wild pigeons have made their reappearance in great numbers on the Pacific coast. Mrs. Fannie R. Porter, of San Luis Obispo, Calif., writes her mother, Mrs. Olivia Rogers, of this place:

Great droves of wild pigeons have made their appearance here. They come by thousands and I hear that they do much damage to growing wheat. It doesn't take them long to destroy a wheat-field and farmers are considerably exercised. One of my boys killed eighty-four across the creek from where I live a few evenings ago. They are fat, plump and tender, are delicious to eat and sell at $1.25 per dozen. I do not think they are exactly the same pigeons as the wild ones I knew back in Kentucky, as they are a little coloring like a dove. But they are certainly wild pigeons, and thousands of them."

It has been fifteen or twenty years since wild pigeons were last seen in this country. The birds suddenly and completely disappeared from their usual haunts, and it was currently reported that millions of them had been overtaken in a storm somewhere off the southern or western coast, in passing from main-land to islands, and all drowned in the ocean. Not one was ever seen afterwards, and it is said that the Smithsonian Institute has for several years offered a standing reward for a live wild pigeon. Their sudden reappearance will excite much interest among ornithologists everywhere. Where they have spent the years of their exile from home is a question that will probably remain forever unanswered.—E. Town News.

Twice Prov'n.
From The Vidicator, Rutherfordton, N. C. The editor of the Vidicator has had occasion to test the efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. First, with rheumatism in the shoulder with which he suffered excruciating pain for ten days, which was relieved with two applications of Pain Balm, rubbing the parts afflicted and realizing instant benefit and entire relief in short time. Second, in rheumatism in the right joint, almost paralyzing him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night and getting up free from pain. For sale by M. Craven.

Thomas Christian, for the murder of Frank Perkins, a colored horse-trainer at Lexington, was given a life sentence.

Mrs. Nation's Crusade.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, as her name would indicate, has succeeded in making herself more than a state affair. Her attempt to cure lawlessness by lawlessness, has aroused discussion everywhere. She has already reached a degree of eminence which has excited the attention of cartoonists, and hatchet-brigades are being organized in various cities in her honor. Kansas has a constitutional amendment as well as a statute prohibiting the sale of liquor, but, as is well known, prohibition is not enforced in communities where the local sentiment is against it. Mrs. Nation acts upon the theory that the saloon is an outlaw in Kansas, and that saloon keepers cannot invoke the protection of the law when they themselves disregard it. While no defense can be made of lawless methods in enforcing law, those who condemn Mrs. Nation must, in order to be consistent, also condemn the violation of the liquor laws. The Kansas crusade has already served a useful purpose in that it has brought out the fact that prohibition is a dead letter in that state, and now that public attention has been directed toward the subject, it is probable that the law will either be enforced or the question resubmitted. A law that is not enforced breeds contempt for law.

Russell Sagely Way to Get Rich.
In a recent number of the Saturday Evening Post, Mr. Russell Sagely gives his view on getting rich. Very few people admire Mr. Sagely; he is one of the men who is noteworthy almost solely for the advice he is worth. But some of the advice he gives is worth reading. He says:

"No matter how fast a man may make money, he owes it to society as well as to himself to be economical. 'Any young man who will live up to the following set of rules will get more genuine happiness out of life than his neighbor who violates them.'"

"Out of every dollar earned save 25 cents. Save 75 cents if you can, but never less than 25."

"Get up at a regular hour every morning and work until the things that are before you are finished. Don't drop what you have in hand because it is 6 o'clock."

"Be honest; always have the courage to tell the truth."

"Don't depend on others. Even if you have a rich father, strike out for yourself."

"Cultivate independence at the very outset."

"Learn the value of the money. Realize that it stands, when honestly made, as the monument to your value as a citizen."

"Be jealous of your civil rights. Take a wholesome interest in public affairs, but do not let politics or anything else interfere with the rigid administration of your private duties. The state is made up of individuals."

"Be clean and decent. Don't do anything that you would be ashamed to discuss with your mother."

"Don't gamble."

"Be circumspect in your movements. 'In connection with amusements, I have never been able to understand why the young men of to-day deem the theatre an absolute essential in securing diversion. An evening with a good book is, or ought to be, more satisfying to the young man of brains than even going to a hall where a lot of mischievous characters are strutting up and down the stage like children. When the human race reaches its highest mental development, there will probably be no theatres.'"

Strikes a Rich Find.
"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervousness," writes R. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for many years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run-down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by T. E. Hall.

Jack Saunders, colored, was arrested at Jellico, for shooting Wesley Turner, a conductor on the Queen and Crescent, the offense being committed in Paducah about a month ago.

What is a Gentleman.

The question has been variously answered. Admiral Sampson's view is that it requires certain specific advantages of early education and training to make a gentleman. If that is so, then gentleness is a acquired art, not a natural gift. This is not a great advance on the old English social doctrine that gentlemen are born, not made. But in this democratic age and country, where high birth nor liberal education is essential to the making of a true gentleman.

When Gunner Morgan, in spite of the unfavorable endorsement of his letter to the Admiral Sampson, called on the latter and expressed his regret that the correspondence should have been so formal, he went so far to show himself a gentleman in the true sense of the term. It was a gentle deed, justifying Steele's observation on the "Letter" that "the appellation of gentleman is never to be affixed to a man's circumstances, but to his behavior in them." Old Chaucer's curiously spelled opinion.

That is gentle that doth gentilly dedis still do in the high court of common sense. We speak of men being 'gentle' gentlemen, 'but the phrase is unhappy. A man can not behave like a gentleman unless he is one for affections or industry is itself bad manners. 'Nothing can constitute good breeding that has no good nature for its foundation,' says Bulwer.

Thackeray's definition of a gentleman is one to which thousands of men measure up who never saw the inside of a college or even a high school and have no distinction either of birth or wealth. 'To be a gentleman,' says the author of 'Vanity Fair,' 'is to be honest, to be gentle, to be generous, to be brave, to be wise, and possessing all these qualities, to exercise them in the most graceful outward manner.' The great scientist Huxley puts it a little differently and makes a just distinction when he says: 'Thoughtfulness for others, generosity, modesty and self-respect are the qualities which make a real gentleman or lady, as distinguished from the veneered aristocrat, whose commonplaces by that name.'

Judged by these high standards it is quite profitable that there are so many real gentlemen among the gunners as among the commissioned officers of Uncle Sam's navy.—New York Journal.

Has an Income of $15,000 a Month.
Special dispatches from the heart of the Beaumont (Texas) oil fields tell sensational stories of sudden wealth. One case which will be of interest to our countrymen is that of Robert Q. Mills, of Corsicana, Tex., ex-United States Senator, and for many years a member of Congress from that State.

When Senator Mills retired to private life a few years ago he was a poor man. All that he owned was a farm adjoining the town of Corsicana. This place of property was encumbered with a large mortgage. About this time the first oil strike in the Corsicana district was made by Capt. Lucas. As a result of the discovery land values in that section began to soar skyward. Senator Mills held his farm and entered into an arrangement with practical oil men for boring a number of wells on the place.

The field was gradually developed, until Senator Mills' farm is now the very heart of the Corsicana oil district. His income from these wells is more than one hundred dollars per acre. The number of wells on the farm has been largely increased in the last year, and it is said that his net income from the sale of the oil now exceeds $15,000 a month.—Kansas City City Chicago Inter-Ocean.

An Honest Medicine for Lagrip.
H. W. Watt, of South Gardner, Me., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vendor. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one bottle of it and the chills, cold and grip have left me. I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine. Sold by Craven."

Mary Wilson, aged eight, and Tom Turner, of Bel county, Ill., went to a preacher and asked to be married, but were refused to do so by their parents who gave the children a spanking.

A Great Newspaper.

The Sunday edition of The St. Louis Republic is a marvel of modern newspaper enterprise. The organization of its new service is world-wide, comprising in every department, in fact, superior to that of any other newspaper.

The magazine section is illustrated in daintily tinted colors and splendid half-tone pictures. This is an element more high-class literary matter than any of the monthly magazines. The fashions illustrated in a variety of colors are especially valuable to the ladies.

The colored comic section is a genuine laugh-maker. The funny cartoons are by the best artists. The humorous stories are high class, by authors of national reputation. Sheet music, a high-class, popular song, is furnished free every Sunday in the Republic.

The price of The Sunday Republic by mail one year is $2.00. For sale by all news dealers.

President McKinley's proposed trans-continental trip the latter part of April will be one not only of value to him as a recreation from official duties, but it will also be an opportunity for him to have of studying the people and the resources of the country through which he will pass. He will visit New Orleans and be present at the inauguration of the largest floating dock in the world. Thence he will pass nearly a thousand miles through Texas, which is six times the area of Ohio, the seventh State in point of population. On his extreme western tour, at El Paso, he will meet President Diaz of Mexico and shake hands with him across the border. Thence he will proceed to Los Angeles and up to the coast to San Francisco, whence he will go to Oregon and visit the cities of Portland, Tacoma and Seattle. His route home has not been scheduled, but he will probably return by the Northern Pacific, and in the case this described he will take in all the distinctive varieties of scenery, development and population which make up the great national empire, of which he is Chief Magistrate.—Courier-Journal.

Most in quantity, best in Quality.
Morley's Sarsaparilla and Iron is a tonic, a blood purifier and a blood maker. It does not take stop with merely curing certain diseases, like scurvy, sure abscesses, etc., but cleanses and builds up the whole system. All who have tried it say there is more cure in a bottle of Morley's Sarsaparilla and Iron than in six of any other kind. Sold by agent in every town.

Hot Times in 1900.
Perturbing as it may appear at first sight, there is logically a grain of comfort to be found in the announcement of Professor Fulton of Edinburgh University that the D-Vil is located on the planet Saturn and that his Satan is Major is killed for protection of the planet Earth some time in the year 1900.

It is always well for a man to know just where his enemy is, and at what time he may be expected to put in an appearance with the light of battle in his eye. The old proverb, "Forewarned is forearmed," voiced this simple truth, which still holds good. It has long been feared that the Devil would some day be turned loose on the terrestrial ball. Not a few persons have believed, indeed, that he has already appeared more than once in disguise—wherefore we have our Miktophobist's myths and others of that ilk. Professor Fulton's announcement simplifies the matter greatly.

The occasion seems to call for Nikola Tesla. If we can believe all we hear of this astonishing electrician, he is the Devil in the line of protocol. Nikola must lay plans for a hot electrical reception of old Nick in 1900. If a him full of chills and yells and blaring blue blazes, Nikola, the minute he sets foot of Saturn, Nord that we'll on his trail, let's fight the Devil with fire.—St. Louis Republic.

NEW SPRING STOCK.

OUR SPRING STOCK IS OPEN FOR YOUR INSPECTION, AND WE CORDIALLY INVITE YOU TO CALL and see it. We have invested more money in goods this Spring than in any former season since we have been in the business. We have learned that we can't sell goods unless we have them, and as our business has been largely increasing for several years, we have determined to show a "record breaker" stock this season, a stock out of which we can please all kinds and conditions from the best to the cheapest articles.

OUR STOCK OF LADIES' DRESS GOODS AND TRIMMINGS

is immense and complete and we are showing all the latest weaves and textures, both in Woolens and wash fabrics. MRS. MURRELL, who has charge of this department, has given much study and thought to the selection of this stock. We have all the new style trimming to match everything. In Ladies' Notions and Furnishings we have everything new on the market. Our stock of Ladies' Fine Kid and Patent Leather Shoes will make a favorable show with any department city store. These goods we only buy from the best manufacturers in the country, thereby saving our customers the "middle man's" profit and furnishing you the best style and service in shoes that can be procured. In men's shoes, we have them from Thos. Emerson Sons', Helmers, Bettman & Co., and other reliable manufacturers from the best to the cheapest. We have a large stock of

CLOTHING AND HATS.

Men's Youths and Boys Clothing, Odd Pants, Coats and Vests—new and stylish. Our stock in this department is too large and we are anxious to quote you low prices to reduce it. HATS.—In our Hat Department can be found all styles and qualities that will please all from the "solid farmer" to the fastidious "Cigarette Dude" both in fur goods and straws.

GENT'S FURNISHINGS.

In this department we know we excel our competitors in this, or any town near us. You never saw a better line of Shirts, Neckwear, Collars and Cuffs, Hosiery, Underwear, etc., than we can show you.

FURNITURE, CARPETS, ETC.

We have added this season, Parlor suits (in 3 and 5 piece sets) upholstered with fine silk Brocade and silk Damask, couches and folding lounges covered with Persian velour, French tapestry, etc. Folding Beds, Rocking Chairs, Dining Room Chairs, Parlor tables, etc. We invite you to inspect this line believing we can give you better than city prices. CARPETS.—We have put in stock 25 new pieces Japanese Matting—styles and prices will please you. Brussels Carpets, all wool and extra super Ingrains, Oil cloths, Rugs, etc. We can save you money on Hardware, Queensware, Groceries and in fact every thing sold in a first-class department store. Glad to show you goods at anytime.

Mr. W. B. Hart Dead.

The sympathy of the people of this county goes out to Mr. W. B. Hart who was bereft of his beloved wife last Saturday afternoon. She was about 60 years of age, and was one of our county's best women. The deceased was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, and many years ago made preparations to meet her God. She possessed a benevolent disposition, remarkably kind to her neighbors, and was an affectionate wife and mother.

The funeral services were held at her late home Sunday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. W. B. G. Sandifer, who spoke pathetically of the excellent traits of the departed, and at the close of his remarks the remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground.

The deceased was the second wife of Mr. W. B. Hart, and besides the surviving husband two children are left—a devoted mother. Early partings are sad, but in reality it is not hard for a Christian to die, knowing the blessedness to be free from the world of pain and suffering. Hence, our admiration to the husband and children is, strive to meet the beloved one in the best way possible.

Temperance Meeting.

The meeting for the purpose of the Union Temperance Society to be held at the Christian Church in Columbia, Ky., March 31, 1901, at 7 o'clock p.m. Devotional Exercises—Reading of the Scriptures, by Eld. Z. T. Williams; Prayer, by Rev. J. S. L. Murrell.

Opening Address—Subject: The Present Need of Temperance in Adversity, by T. L. Hulse—twenty-five minutes.

"How to Rid Columbia of 'Blind Tiger'" Rev. F. W. Fulton—fifteen minutes.

"What can be done to do away with the 'jug business'?" Eld. Z. T. Williams—fifteen minutes.

"What has been the effects of Intemperance in Columbia?" Rev. W. P. Gordon—fifteen minutes.

Everybody interested in the temperance cause is requested to be present and make voluntary speeches.

Signed by the Committee.

Last Thursday, W. H. Woody from Casey Creek, and W. W. Barrett, of the Tarter county, were adjudged lunatics and sent to Anchorage, and on Saturday, Sylvester Burton, of Vester, was also adjudged of unsound mind and was conveyed to the same Asylum. The trial of Mr. Burton was pathetic in some particulars. Before an investigation had been made, he asked the privilege to read a chapter. He read the 13th of Matthew and then knelt and offered a feeling prayer. His constant reading of the Scripture and his effort to live a sinless life have evidently unbalanced his mind and made him a pitiful creature for treatment. His wife is earnestly to many who were present at his trial to bear the Scriptures and to live a better life.

W. F. JEFFRIES & SON.

Mr. Sam Bell, whose home was near Duvalville, Casey County, died one day last week. The deceased was a sister of Mr. Bob Williams and was educated at Columbia.

Mill men throughout this country when needing supplies will find it to their interest to write to Harry B. Payne & Co., Main Street, Louisville, Ky.

Paid list since our last issue: W. B. Sparks, Carter Barger, P. V. Grissom, Anderson Morgan, H. W. Tupper, N. L. Stotts, Mrs. Hattie S. Pease, Cooper Bros, W. A. Garrett, Miss Lou Todd, J. L. Johnson.

About ten gentlemen of this place have purchased a pool table for their own amusement. It will not be used on Sundays neither will there be any betting. The purchase was made simply for pleasure.

The meeting conducted by Revs. Capner and J. S. L. Murrell, closed last Sunday week. There were thirty-one additions to the Church, twenty-seven by experience and baptism and four by lot.

Last Sunday Mr. Henry Burress, whose home was near Montpellier, died after a few days' illness with pneumonia. Mr. Burress was near 80 years old and served through the civil war. His son Henry lives at Campbellsville.

Mr. James B. Abrell is announced in today's News a candidate for Jailer, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Abrell is a good citizen and a sterling Democrat and should be received the nomination and become Jailer. He would doubtless make an excellent county official.

Mr. Tandy Withers, an old and respected citizen of this county, died at his late home last Thursday. He was about seventy-two years old, an ardent Baptist, had frequently preached from the word of God. He will be greatly missed by his family and numerous friends.

Geo. Milam charged with detaining a woman, and who made his escape from this place a few days ago, was last seen by former citizens of Columbia at Lebanon. His whereabouts at this writing are not known. George is a dark mulatto, 22 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, and will weigh about 150 pounds. He is an "all round" bad boy. The girl he wronged is also colored. Jordan Sebastian, charged with being implicated with Milam in the crime, was given an examining trial last Thursday and acquitted.

In last week's issue we stated that Humble Bros. had bought out R. W. Allen. Mr. Allen sold to Vaughan Bros., of Kibbie, and the mistake of last week was due to a misunderstanding of our reporter.

A Baptist Missionary and Sunday-school convention will be held at Plum Point, this county the fifth Sunday in this month. An interesting program has been made out, and a large crowd will doubtless be in attendance.

Mr. P. S. Robinson, of Campbellville, a young man well-known in Columbia, son of the late John B. Robinson, will be married to-day to Grace Huron, of Louisville, Indiana. It is understood that the couple will reside at Campbellville.

Last Friday morning a little snow was on the ground and Mr. A. D. Patterson threw a snow-ball at some one but it went wide of its intended victim and struck Mr. J. F. Best right eye. The hurt is severe but he will soon be all right.

Mr. Chas. M. Giddens, who was a son of Rev. T. J. and Alice Robinson Giddens, was killed by the falling of a limb from a tree near Douglas, Kansas, Feb. 14, 1901. He was born in Columbia, Ky., and was twenty years old. He was married to Miss Cleo Graves December 23, 1889.

A farmer in Nelson county has discovered that hares and cattle prefer to cross roads to Timothy hay. He says that he cut the hedge when green, intending to use it for bedding. After it cured he discovered his stock eating it, and later learned that they preferred it to other kinds of roughness. We have plenty of broom-sedge in this country, and some poor farms may yet become valuable.

Alice Winfrey Smith and Sallie Kate Squires, two colored women, created some excitement upon the square last Saturday afternoon by indulging in a fight. It is generally believed that Alice is jealous of Sallie Kate without a cause, and was wholly in the wrong. Neither one of the women were hurt, but it is said Sallie Kate got the best end of the fight.

An exchange puts it right when it says: "The newspaper man in some instances is like other people. He respects his friends, appreciates a kindness, and he is always willing to return a favor. In other respects, he resembles his fellow-man. He is not content to put a man on the back, tell him what a good man he is, and how much he has done for the town, and sit back and see the man's efforts every week, when the man will not, through personal prejudice or otherwise, patronize the paper. In other words, he stands by the man who is in line by him. That's about the way with the world, and a newspaper man cannot be expected to be different from the other people. Don't you see?"

Last week the Louisville papers stated that a young woman giving her name "Gerie Lila Price" had applied to commit suicide at the St. Nicholas Hotel on Ninth street. She was sent to the hospital and upon recovery stated that she was the daughter of a colored man, and that she had been married five years; that her husband was named Dick Bryant, and that court. The story is unfounded. Gerie Lila Price does not live in Columbia, nor did any person by that name ever live here or in Adair county. The above story is also a fabrication, as there is no record of such proceedings.

Mr. Chas. Campbell, who lives at Greelbush, Russell county, is the owner of a Shepherd dog, two years old, presented to him by Mr. W. H. Harbison of this place. He is a very intelligent canine, his crowing propensities affording much amusement for Mr. Campbell's friends who stop over night. There are six or eight roosters on the place, and in the early morning when they begin to crow the dog also crows, answering each one in turn. The roosters crow differently and the dog has cultivated his habit as to make a noise to correspond with each rooster.

Mrs. T. F. Walton gratifiedly entertained a party of her lady friends last Friday afternoon. Refreshments were served, and a very enjoyable time was experienced. These presents were: Messdames Cary Hurt, M. Cravens, W. B. Grissom, W. A. Coffey, J. S. Garrett, Jr., W. B. Patterson, W. R. Brucshaw, Misses Sallie and Mary Baker, Maryjane Julia Smith, Sarah Harting, Minnie Triplett, Charlie Harbison, assisted Mrs. Walton in receiving and entertaining. Miss Mary Smith received the prize, a pin cushion artistically wrought with violets, for answering correctly the largest number of questions suggested.

How to Secure a Stallion

Good horses were never so scarce on our farms, in our neighborhoods, as now. The demand for them for the Cuban, Philippine and Boer wars has almost exhausted the supply. Many farmers themselves are short of horses, and will have to buy, and the demand for them in all kinds of business is increasing, and in towns and cities for pleasure purposes the demand continues. Europeans are over here also at our large public sales buying them.

A bright farmer is always looking in advance to see what the market demands, what he can raise at the greatest profit. If his eyes are now open he must see clearly that in no field is there more hope for profit than in raising good horses. To do this he must use good stallions as well as good mares.

Many farmers do not feel able to buy or lease a good stallion, and hence none are secured, and scrub horses only are raised in that community. How much better it would be for a few progressive farmers to club together and buy, or if unable, lease some good stallion for one or more years and thus introduce good stock into their neighborhoods. We do not indorse the method of some stallioners of sending out a drummer to some rich community to form a stock company to sell a stallion for two or three times what he is worth. Many important horses or horses from imported stock, have been thus sold at many times their value, and a great wrong perpetrated on the customers. We have good enough American horses of size, substance—style and action to suit any community. Let a committee be appointed to make a selection, to look the stallion over, to buy from whom they please, at the lowest prices at which one can be secured, or lease one in the same way, and not let some agent or drummer sell him to you at double what he is worth.

The time is now ripe for taking up this matter. The breeding season is at hand and action must be taken at once or a new lot of scrubs will be brought into the world, wanted by no one, and not bringing enough to pay for the cost of raising. A good horse will always sell. There is money in raising such. The spring, right now, is the time to begin the good work.—Elizabethtown News.

Send your mares to Adair county. There are a number of excellent stallions here, and pasture is cheap.

Night Was Her Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Apple, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but when all other medicines failed, this $1.00 bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 25 pounds." It's a cough remedy to cure Coughs, Colds, Laryngitis, Bronchitis and All Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Try bottles free at Paul's drugstore.

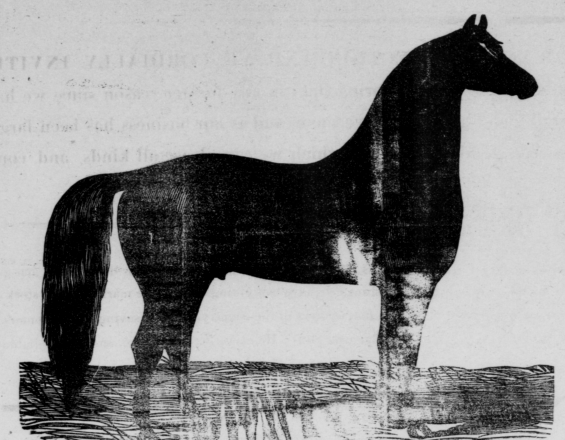

An Eastern editor says a man got into trouble by marrying two wives. A Western editor replied that many had done so by marrying one. A Northern editor says a great many of his companions found trouble by promising to marry one and not going any further. A Southern editor says a friend of his was bothered enough when he was simply found in company with another man's wife.—Ex.

Agents tell you that there is something wrong in the throat or lungs. It is the cause, not the cough, that you must look after. Morley's Honey Peppermint soothes out the cause of trouble. It heals the inflamed surfaces, stops the irritation, loosens the clogged mucus thoroughly. Sold by agent in every town.

Cause for Suspicion.

Why is it that women are so suspicious? Now, had Mother Eve been a smart woman and true to nature, it strikes me she would have suspected the serpent of some sly trick when he called her attention to the apple. As a rule, when you go to talking to a bloomer about something of which she knows nothing, or has at least but a slight knowledge of, she sets her ears up and shies off. There is a mighty good man here in town—at least, he says he is a good man, which, of course, gives no room for doubting him—and he started out to keep Lent. He had never kept it before, but he said to his wife: "My dear, I feel that this really is the season when we should deprive ourselves of some of our pleasures, as the Rev. Dr. Smith remarked Sunday. I have softly put my mind that one of the joys of my life is the society of you and the children. I look forward every evening to coming home, eating a nice dinner and then spending the rest of the time with you in peace and comfort. But our lodge has many sick brethren, and I am ashamed to say that I have not paid them the attention I ought to have done, so to keep Lent in act as well as in spirit, I am going to devote my evenings hereafter to the sick ones and help all I can to brighten and cheer them."

I do not believe this good man's wife is unduly suspicious, but this Lenten gab found her restless. Anyhow, she made a chance to go down to his office the next morning and size up his new typewriter, and he hasn't been allowed to call and minister to the sick brethren yet.—Tattler, Louisville Times.

A Good Cough Medicine for Children.

"I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says F. P. Moran, a well-known and popular baker, of Petersburg, Va. "We have given it to our children when troubled with bad coughs, also whooping cough, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. It was recommended to me by a druggist as the best cough medicine for children as it contained no opium or harmful drug." Sold by M. Cravens.

Rufus Wootton and John Everage were shot and killed by Benton Messers, a physician of Knott county. Wootton, Everage and Blaine Combs had ridden by Messers' home and fired into his house, and as they returned a general fight ensued. Rufus Wootton and Blaine Combs were in the Hollifield-Kelly fight, which occurred in Letcher county a short time ago.

A Horrible Outbreak.

"Of late some of my daughter's head developed into a mass of scald head," writes Dr. J. B. Tabbell of Morgan-town, Tenn., but Dr. Buckley's Anker-Pain-Expeller cured her. It's a guaranteed cure for Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Sores, Ulcers and Itches. Only 25c, at Paul's.

Another Turn of the Screw.

An advance of 2 per cent. on the price of window glass is announced. This added to previous advances makes the price from 50 to 60 per cent. higher than it was a year ago. It is a practical example of the power of trusts to tax the people upon articles of prime necessity. By the consolidation of the manufacturers the expense of management is decreased and should result in a decrease of prices. But a monopoly is created and the price advanced at pleasure. Another factory for the oppression consists in shutting down at intervals certain of the plants so as to reduce the stock and make that the pretext for the raise in price. This not only punishes the consumer, but by the enforced idleness of the hands brings distress to many families.

This system of increasing the price of window glass is on a par with the old English law which taxed each window pane in a house, cutting off to that extent light from the dwellings of the poor and leading to the substitution of fish skins and oiled paper. Its abolishment marked a new era in Great Britain, just as the enthronement of the trusts is evidence of a retrograde from sound political economy in this country.—Crier, New York Journal.

"Who will ride up the avenue with the President in 1905?" is one of the questions asked by writers who do not find enough in the stirring present to give vent to their paragraphic smartness. Perhaps the inauguration fear, years hence will be so modest and retiring that questions of precedence will be of no moment. There is a strong undertow, without distinction of party, against spectacular celebrations of changes in the Government. The inauguration of a President, as now conducted, is a party event. It was so on two occasions—in 1855 and 1868—when the Democrats of the country thought they had put a member of their party in the Executive Chair. The two inaugurations of Mr. McKinley have been largely in the nature of Republican jubiliations. Those who believe that we have too many elections and too much politics for the good of business, may be willing to dispense with any further formality in the induction of a President than might be involved in the services of a Justice of the Peace or a Notary Public.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Rich, Red Blood.

Morley's Sarsaparilla and Iron not only purifies the blood but makes new, rich red blood. If you have skin eruptions, boils, rheumatism or scrofula, or if you have a run-down tired feeling, try this remedy and note the prompt results. Ask your druggist.

We have not heard of a Democrat who wants to run for the State Senate in this district.

The four Republican Judges of the Court of the Court of Appeals, in an opinion written by Judge Guiffy, the three Democratic dissenting, have overruled a long line of decisions by the courts of this and other States. It was in the case of a Henry county man, and holds that in cross-examination of a witness he can not be required to answer any question the answer to which show that he had been guilty of any misdemeanor or accused or convicted of any crime; and that such facts can not be proved by other witnesses. The majority went out of the record to make this ruling, which is said to be for the purpose of giving an easy chance to reverse the case of Jim Howard sentenced to hang for killing Gov. Goebel. Judge Hobson in a dissenting opinion scores the Republican majority for overruling established precedents and bringing the court into contempt by reversing itself.—Stanford Journal.

John Hedrickson, accused of the murder of Callaway Carnes, escaped from jail at Manchester.

John Sebastian, of Morgan county, committed suicide by shooting with a rifle.

James Shannon, of Nicholas county, died from injuries received by being thrown from a horse.

Hopkinsville capitalists have on foot a project to build an electric railroad from that city to Cumberland river.

At Stanford, Robert Wilson, charged with criminal assault on Miss Sallie Crabtree, was given fifteen years in the penitentiary.

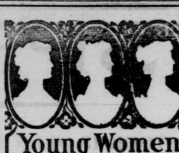

The temperance war is on in Flemingsburg. The druggists have been arrested on the charge of not keeping a register of liquor prescriptions.

Mrs. Daniel Muldon, of Covington, gave birth to twin daughters last week, the fourth set of twins that she has been the mother of during her marriage of 12 years.

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. Little menstrual disorders start at that time and grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are killing everywhere prove this. Wine of Cardui establishes a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Many women, young and old, owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. There is nothing like it to give women freedom from pain and to give young women for every day of life. $1.00 bottles at druggists.

Miss Della M. Steyer, Tully, Kan., "I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time, was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything. The fact was miserable. I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui, with Theodore's Black-Draught, when needed, and to-day I am entirely cured. I cannot express the thanks I feel for what you have done for me."

WINE OF CARDUI

Ex-Senator Wm. E. Chandler, of New Hampshire, has been taken into care. He is to be Chairman of the Spanish Claims Commission.

There is no disguising the fact that the political complexion of the next Kentucky Senate is in doubt, though the chances favor the Democrats. Of the 19 hold-over Senators, only seven are reliably Democratic, Harrel, elected as a Democrat, having voted with the Republicans at the last session. Nineteen new Senators are to be elected and to make sure of controlling the Senate the Democrats must elect 13 of them. There are six doubtful districts. The Democrats must win one to tie the Republicans and two to have a majority. On the other hand the Republicans must win five of them to tie and all to have a majority. A great deal depends on the result, as the elect who has the majority will elect a President, who will be ex-officio the Lieutenant Governor, there being no regular Lieutenant Governor since the death of Gov. Goebel. The nominations so far made by the Democrats have shown wisdom and if the plan to select only the best men is followed, the apparently uncertain situation will be relieved of every element of doubt.—Interior Journal.

Hanna and His Caste. It is a relief to be assured by Mark Hanna that the talk of President McKinley's ambition to be nominated and elected a third term is "stiff and nonsense." And that there is absolutely no foundation in fact for the story recently sent out from Washington.

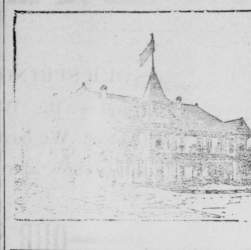

The truth is, you know, that if Mr. McKinley really cherished such an ambition, and especially if he were encouraged by Hanna, the latter would see to it that the money and influence of the trust world again prevail over the people at the polls. The Pierpont Morgan $1,000,000 Steel Trust, the railroads combine on the "community of ownership" basis, all the monopolies, in fact, would do Hanna's will in such an event. Why not? Has he not delivered the American Government into their hands?

But, now that Hanna disclaims any intention of forcing McKinley on the people for a third time, we must wait in patience until the great Syndicate bosses get to announce his choice as McKinley's successor in the White House. You may very soon see in some man equally pliable, similarly inclined to accept the orders of the trusts as "manifest destiny," fully as indifferent to the welfare of the common people. And it is just certain that the millions of the combines will be at Hanna's disposal for the election of this man.

To this complexion have we come at last in what was once a government of the people, by the people, for the people. A privilege caste is in control. It is the money-caste, the most unworthy of all so-called aristocracies. It has prevailed to overcome the will of the people. It believes that it can continue to thus prevail. During the next four years of McKinley's administration will be left undone to strengthen the power of this money-caste. What do the American people propose in their own defense?—St. Louis Republic.

A Cup of Good Coffee

To get a really good cup of coffee you'll have to start back of the actual making; you'll have to look to the roasting and the grinding. In ARBUCKLES' you have a coffee that's scientifically roasted, and delivered to you with all the pores of the berry hermetically sealed. You're sure of a good cup of coffee because all the coffee flavor and aroma are kept intact until you want it. The fame of ARBUCKLES' induced other coffee packers to put out imitations of it. These imitations cost the grocer (and you) a cent a pound less than ARBUCKLES'. But don't be tempted to buy a package of some other coffee when you can get for it is actually less expensive than the cheap kind; goes further—besides being better flavored, more satisfying.

You will find a list of useful articles in each package of Arbuckles' Coffee. A definite part of one of these articles becomes yours when you buy the coffee. The one you select from the list will be sent you on condition that you send to our Home Department a certain number of signatures cut from the wrapper.
